ISLAMIC ARCHITECTURE AND ITS DECORATION

By DEREK HILL and OLEG GRABAR

This beautiful and unique collection of pictures records nearly every important example of early Islamic architecture in Turkey, Persia, Afghanistan and Russian Central Asia. Derek Hill, a painter, brings out aspects of harmony, design, and decoration in his photographs; Oleg Grabar, a professor in the Department of the History of Art at the University of Michigan, contributes a scholarly and technically informative introduction.

INDEX TO VOLUME 549

THE MIDDLE EAST AND THE EUROPEAN COMMON MARKET

by Rouhollah K. Ramazani

This study treats a subject hitherto overlooked in the confusion surrounding the operations of the EEC: the probable effects of the Common Market on various exports of Middle Eastern countries such as oil, grain, vegetables and fruits, cotton, and tobacco. (There is also a chapter dealing with the possible effects of British entry into the EEC.) The text is supplemented by an appendix of 23 tables. The author also discusses the reactions of the Middle Eastern countries toward the EEC. He finds, paradoxically perhaps, that the countries most likely to be hard hit are the least antagonistic to the Market; indeed, they are trying to associate themselves with it. On the other hand, those countries which stand to be comparatively unhurt, such as Egypt, are bitterly opposed. Mr. Ramazani concludes that the EEC countries must adopt policies designed to forward the general welfare and that Arabs should realize that they too must accept the responsibility of cooperation with the West. xxii, 152 pp. $3.75.

YUGOSLAVIA: THE THEORY AND PRACTICE OF DEVELOPMENT PLANNING

by George Macesich

Ever since Yugoslavia was expelled from the Cominform in 1948 it has been traveling a "separate road to socialism," one that involves abandonment of the Soviet planning procedure, but adherence to the Soviet strategy of development. Since Yugoslavia has also adopted many features usually associated with Western free-market economies, the centuries-old Yugoslav bridge between East and West has been reestablished. The author has examined the decentralization of the Yugoslav economy, and his material forms a key by which to answer broader questions concerning the limitations of centralized planning and the current problem of underdeveloped areas. November. Approx. 220 pp. $5.50.
